

Local Government Role in Food Security

What are the Barriers?

Christine Slade

Opening Thoughts

*'There is a future of food
that is far more sustainable'*

UK Cabinet Office (2008)

- 1. Ideally, food policy should be comprehensive and integrated across the three levels of government.
- 2. But in reality, it has started from the ground up.
- 3. Some partnerships with State Government level.
- 4. Federal government has not 'got the vision'.
- 5. Now advocating to State governments to take responsibility for food issues – one department for food?

The Context: Two Projects

1. Integrating Land Use Planning and Community Food Security Report October 2009

Victorian Local Governance Association
www.vlga.org.au

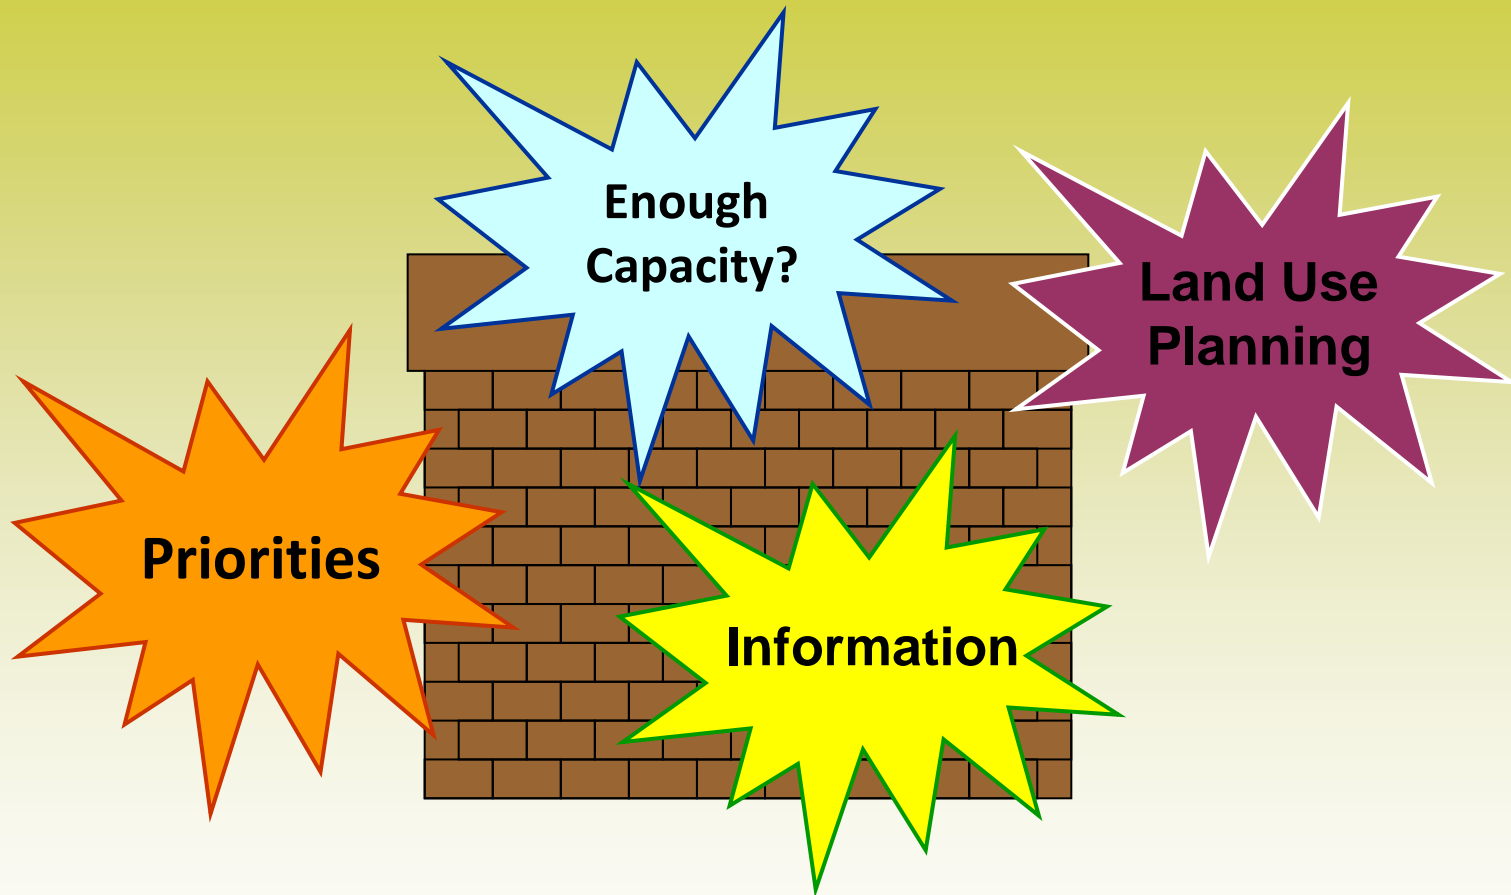

Community Planning and Development Program

2. The Role of Local Government in Providing Greater Community Food Security

Master of Arts (by research- in progress)

Christine Slade

Barriers to Local Government Involvement

Result: Disengagement in Food Issues !

Local Government Involvement in Food Security

Simplified Version!

Priorities

Barrier One

No
Action

- Don't see importance of food.
- Community not advocating.
- Food is a private choice.
- Food system is governed by the markets.
- Not a local govt issue – no statutory obligation
- No funding

Enough Capacity?

Barrier Two

No
Action

- State government could make local government responsible for food security but not provide funding.
- No clearly defined roles between state and local governments.
- Limited by legislation

Action

- Financial capacity – funding for policies and programs.
- Staff – number, training, knowledge
- Technical – legislation, regulation, strategies, plans, other departments

Barrier Three

No Action

- Term 'food security' confusing.
- Don't see the big picture.
- Community not advocating so no pressure.

Action

- Lack of information about role of local government in food security.

Land Use
Planning

Barrier Four

No
Action

Action

- Lack of substantive support for food policies and programs.
- Legislation and regulation does not support special zoning for urban agriculture and consideration of healthy food outlets.
- Weak protection of productive agricultural on urban fringe.
- Risk of being taken to tribunal and losing case.
- Feeling of being powerless to create change.

Local Government Facilitators

- External funding
- Local evidence
- Community advocacy and champions in the field
- Information about the 'big picture' of food
- Assurances from state government about definition of roles and funding
- Changes to land-use planning regulation
- Partnerships with those who has similar food interests

Thank You